Tara: Oh! Where am I? I think I can call my friend and ask for the direction. Hello Marty. How are you?

Marty: I'm fine, and you?

Tara: I'm fine thank you. Well, I'm in my car now. I want to go to the post office. Can you help me?

Marty: Of course! Where are you?

Tara: I'm between the bank and the theatre.

Marty: Oh! So, you are in the Grey Town. Go straight ahead and take the second turn. The post office is there.

Tara: OK! I go straight ahead and I take the second turn. Right or left?

Marty: Well... I don't know Tara.

Tara: No problem. I can see the post office. Thanks Marty!

Marty: You are welcome!

Writing

EXERCISE 1: Look at the map and write a short paragraph to describe the Grey Town.

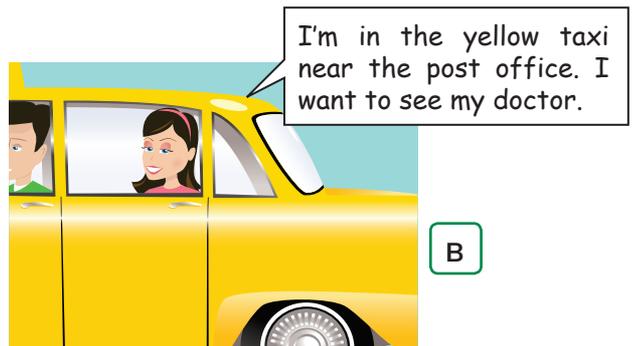

Suggested answer: There are many public places in Grey Town. There is a bookshop and a library. People can read lots of books there. Also, there is a butcher's, a grocery and a toy shop. People can do shopping in those places. There is a hospital for sick people and the pharmacy is opposite the hospital. There is a cinema, a theatre and a museum for cultural activities. The bank is opposite the museum. Finally, there is a post office opposite the hospital. People can send letters there.

EXERCISE 2: Read the speech bubbles of the people in the Grey Town. Write the names of the places they go and give directions.

A

e.g. Go to the butcher's. Go straight ahead and turn left. Later, take the first right. The butcher's is between the theatre and the book shop.

Go to the hospital. Go straight ahead. It's opposite the library.

EXERCISE 3: Read the speech bubbles of the people in the Grey Town. Write the names of the places they go and give directions.

I'm in the bus between the hospital and the post office. I want to buy toys for my daughter.

Go to the toyshop. Go straight ahead and take the second left. It is near the bank and opposite the cinema.
